Andaman Is., penal settlement, Bay of Bengal. 11° 25' N., 93° Area, 2500 sq. m. Covered with thick primeval forests, except about 20,000 acres, near Port Blair, which have been cleared by convict labour. P. 15,609. Ports Cornwallia and Blair are spacious, and afford secure and sheltered anchorage. Climate equable, the thermometer in the shade ranging from 67° to 91° Fahr. Rainfall 123 in per annum. The aborigines, when the place was first settled, were exceedingly fierce, but now, with the exception of those on Little Andaman I., are perfectly friendly; they are, however, fast dying out, and must shortly become quite extinct. The convicts generally number about 12,000. Experiments in timber exporting have been tried.

cap. Panjab. Situated near the Havi, and amid the rains of an ancient and more extensive city. Although the general aspect of the city is gloomy, the houses being tall and the streets winding and narrow, the buildings of the Moghul and modern periods are frequently very fine, and serve somewhat to relieve the monotony of the general effect. In the fort is the palace of Ranjit Singh. The Great Padshah mosque and others are of interest; the splendid tomb of Jahangir is at Shahdara, across the Ravl: the Museum is rich in sculptures excavated in Ydsufzai and east of the Indus. Good rly, communication. Labor has not any important industry. 31° 34' N., 74° 21 E. P. 176,854.

Madras Presidency, officially the Presidency of St. George, consists of 22 British dists., 3 Agency Tracts, and 5 Native States. Area, 141,189 sq. m. with 57,079 tns. and vils. P. 35,630,440. Area of native states, 9600 sq. m. P. 3.700,622. Iron and gold are worked, and coal of poor quality has been found, Madras is not naturally a fertile area, and except along the Malabar coast, the rainfall is not to be depended upon: besides the natural features of the country prevent more than about 20 per cent of the land to be irrigated. Principal crops: food grains, oilseeds, garden produce, cotton, and indigo. Coffee, ten and tobacco are also staple products. Large public works of various kinds have been carried out of late years. The manufactures are neither very numerous nor important.

Madras, (Mandrij), cap. and rly. terminus, Chengalpat dist., Madras. In importance, ranks third among the ports of India, though the roadstead is open and exposed. Trade in coffee, cotton, grain, hides, indigo, oil-seeds, dyes, sugar, horns, iron etc. Seat of a University, and contains an observatory, museum, libraries, hospitals, schools and colleges. Mean temperature from 74° to S7° F. Mean annual rainfall, 48.69 in. 180 4' 6" N., 80° 17' 21" E. (as used by the Survey Department: electric determination. 80° 14' 50'). P. 452,518.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The Hand-Gazetteer of India is based on the Index to Constable's Hand-Atlas of India which contains nearly 12,000 place-names, and includes all mentioned in the Imperial Gazetteer of India. To these have been added very largely from the Provincial Gazetteers, the Census Reports (1891), and the Postal Directories. The additions from all sources bring the number of entries to close upon 20,000.

Though the details are necessarily of the briefest nature, they indicate the position of each place, and the populations of districts, towns, and villages so far as available. The work is designed as a much needed general reference book to the topography of India, embodying the substance of many extensive works in one handy volume. It is thus adapted as a companion to the Hand-Atlas, and to every good map of India.

The question of spelling is still a difficulty with Indian placenames, and the general principles of the system followed in the Imperial Gazetteer have been adopted, whilst the spellings approved by Government have been usually given. Long vowels are generally indicated, but as these are not marked in Government publications, the marks are not always repeated.
